

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION GETS DOWN TO BUSINESS

NOMINATING SPEECHES NOW BEING MADE

SENATOR OWEN, OF OKLAHOMA, IS FIRST MAN TO BE NOMINATED

COX ROOTERS TRY TO STAMPEDE CONVENTION FOR THEIR CANDIDATE

HUGH BAILLIE

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Auditorium, San Francisco, June 30—A determination to stampee the democratic convention for Governor Cox was in full swing as Chairman Robinson called the convention to order at 11:29 today to hear nominating speeches.

Cox rooters in the gallery dominated the situation with college yells and songs about "We'll nominate Cox or know the reason why."

Rabbi Myer delivered the invocation while the crowd stood.
The immense throng edging about the aisles and yelling for Cox, Palmer and McAdoo and other candidates, was instantly silent as the rabbi began praying. Rabbi Myer read his prayer in a deep, resonant voice that was easily heard to the furthestmost gallery.

When the last word of the invocation had died the band and organ jumped forth with the national anthem and delegates and visitors stood quietly as the first verse was concluded and then several hundred joined in singing through to the end.
Chairman Robinson then called for nominations for president and the roll in states began.

Alabama passed and Arizona yielded to Oklahoma.

Senator Owen Is Nominated

Senator Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma, was the first presidential candidate to be presented to the convention. D. Hayden Linebaugh, of Muskogee, Oklahoma, delivered the speech that formally placed the name of the Oklahoma senator in the democratic list.

Linebaugh was well received by the floor which joined the gallery in a hearty round of handclapping when the speaker was presented by Chairman Robinson.

Linebaugh concluded speaking at 11:57 A. M. The Oklahoma delegation leaped to its feet waving hands and shouting for their favorite son.

After one minute of shouting in which a few of the Washington delegation joined, Chairman Robinson pounded for order and the Oklahoma men took their seats. The demonstration was over at 11:58. Then Governor Brough, of Arkansas, moved to the rostrum to second Owen's nominating speech.

Mrs. Susan F. Fitzgerald, of Massachusetts, took the platform to second the nomination of the Oklahoma senator. Mrs. Fitzgerald, a gray-haired woman, was dressed in a blue frock. Her appearance was met with a roar from the floor and the band started up "Beautiful Doll." Mrs. Fitzgerald was manifestly embarrassed. She hit her lip as she stood waiting. Her hands trembled just a trifle. Her nervousness vanished when she swung into her speech. She spoke in a voice that carried into every corner of the hall. She was the first woman to make a seconding speech in a democratic national convention. Her hearers listening intently, occasionally interrupted with outbursts of hand-clapping.

Gerard Is Nominated

James Gerard was next placed in nomination by U. S. G. Cherry, of Sioux Falls, S. D.

President Working for Damp Plank

L. C. MARTIN.
(Written for the United Press)

San Francisco, June 30—Within forty-eight hours, Wm. Jennings Bryan will have been crumbled by the administration tank that is rumbling, according to the bitter feeling here today, or he will have climbed to the driver's seat, according to several indications on various fronts.

The fight between Bryan and President Wilson for control of the demo-

He also planned to see something of the Republican national convention in Chicago.

PLATFORM COMMITTEE STILL AT WORK ON PLATFORM

L. C. MARTIN.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, June 30—After a short meeting this morning members of the resolutions committee drafting the democratic platform, went from the Palace Hotel to the Auditorium to confer with the full committee. It was understood that every member of the full committee insisted that plank writers should be told just how far they can go in writing declarations on the league of nations, liquor and other big issues.

Each member of the full committee had submitted a number of planks. The sub-committee retired to Carter Glass' room in a hotel to continue in seclusion its work upon the platform. Glass said the door was closed to submission of further plank suggestions. The sub-committee would devote all its time to put the platform into shape.

cratic convention, became intense today with the report that Secretary of State Colby reported the president is working for a "damp" plank in the platform.

The Wilson and Bryan forces already are engaged in bitter strife over the question of whether the convention shall endorse the league of nations. But the league does not overshadow Bryan's estimate of the wet and dry issue.

The report that the convention favors a wet plank, is based on the impression that the administration favors modification of the Volstead act. It will be recalled that Wilson vetoed wartime prohibition.

Carter Glass is on the sub-committee which is actually drafting the platform planks while Bryan is not, therefore the latter is expected to have most of his ammunition for the opening fight which is looked for on the convention floor when the platform comes up for approval.

Chairman Glass flatly denied widespread reports that the committee had rejected a wet plank, 6 to 3. Glass said that no votes had been taken and no decision had been reached as the session broke up at 2 a. m.

No Vote Taken on Wet Plank

San Francisco, June 30—Everyone of the nine members of the resolutions committee flatly denied today a widely circulated report that the committee last night rejected a proposal to put a wet plank in the democratic platform.

There was no vote taken, either formally or informally. And there was no decision, either formal or informal, reached, they declared individually.

The report in question said the wet plank proposal was defeated 6 to 3.

SEVEN HOURS ARE REQUIRED FOR NOMINATING SPEECHES

CONVENTION MET AT 11 O'CLOCK TO RECEIVE REPORT OF THE PLATFORM COMMITTEE

TWELVE NOMINATIONS TO BE MADE—SPEECHES ARE LIMITED TO 20 MINUTES EACH

HUGH BAILLIE

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
San Francisco, June 30—The democratic convention was scheduled to meet at 11 a. m. today to hear nominating speeches and receive the report of the platform committee if it is ready.

"There isn't a particle of truth in any story that the sub-committee took any action at all last night," Senator Glass declared today when his attention was called to a report that a wet plank had been rejected by a vote of 6 to 3.

"There was no vote taken," said Glass, "and only tentative matters were discussed."

It looks as if it would be an exciting session. The stage is set for the demonstration. Should the platform or any part of it be brought in, there is a prospect of a floor debate on the liquor plank.

With twenty minutes limit for nominating speeches and five minutes limit for three seconding speeches for very man, the actual addresses alone will require approximately seven hours.

"This allows no time for demonstration and delay."

The candidates to be placed in nomination are: Wm. McAdoo, Governor Cox, Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, Chairman Homer Cummings of the national committee, former Ambassador James W. Gerard, Governor Edward L. Edwards, Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Senator Robert L. Owen, Secretary of Agriculture E. T. Meredith, Senator George E. Chamberlain, Governor Alfred E. Smith and Ambassador John W. Davis.

Others for whom formal nominating speeches probably will not be made, are Senator Carter Glass and Senator F. M. Simmons, Vice-President Marshall and Champ Clark. The adherence of Cox and Palmer apparently would be better organized for spectacular demonstration than supporters of other candidates.

Committee Wrestling With Platform Building

L. C. MARTIN

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

San Francisco, June 30—Wrestling almost throughout the night with delicate questions which they have been called on to handle, the framers of the democratic party platform adjourned at an early hour this morning with the work far from completed.

Unexpected difficulties were encountered when he sub-committee of nine named to draft the platform, met last night. Instead of ratifying an administration platform already drawn up for them, the committee members found it necessary, because of strong pressure from various quarters, to make drastic modifications in planks submitted by the administration leaders. These modifications were made necessary, it was explained, to placate "restless elements" which demand consideration.

Without final agreement on the form of any plank the sub-committee adjourned at 2 a. m. until 9:30 when the deliberations were to be resumed.

The sub-committee will form two model platforms. One the Virginia democratic platform specifically approved by President Wilson, and the other draft known as the "administration platform," which Secretary of State Colby had before him.

Agreeing at the outset that their work was only tentative, and would face reviewing and revising of the full committee, the sub-committee members decided to do their work deliberately.

Early in the evening they discussed the league of nations plank. Senator Walsh, of Montana, an "insurgent," who favors reservations, urged that the Wilson plank, as the latest draft of the league plank is known, should not be adopted. He said its demand for treaty ratification without substantial reservations would act as a boomerang upon the democratic party, and pointed out the futility of expected unqualified ratification without strong reservations to Article X unless the democrats assume overwhelming control of the senate. Even then Walsh indicated, it would be difficult to get enough democrats to vote for ratification unless Article X was modified.

CHARLES S. WHEELER

Charles S. Wheeler of California who presented the name of Senator Hiram Johnson to the Republican convention.

ACTION BROUGHT TO CONTEST KVALE NOMINATION

TWENTY-FIVE VOTERS ALLEGED VIOLATION OF CORRUPT PRACTICE ACT BY KVALE

(By United Press)

Benson, Minn., June 30—Twenty-five voters of the seventh congressional district has begun proceedings against O. J. Kvale, nonpartisan league-republican congressional nominee, over Congressman Volstead, under the corrupt practice act. Should the voters' contention be upheld the author of the national prohibition enforcement act may yet win the nomination.

L. D. Barnar, attorney, of Renville, filed the suit for twenty-five voters and asked Judge G. E. Quale, of Willmar, to set a date for hearing of it. A judge from another district probably will be asked to hear the case.

The charges cited an alleged attempt to "improperly influence voters of the seventh district through the circulation of front pages of the Benson newspaper, on the back of which was printed a scathing denunciation of Volstead as an atheist, and made charges of 'collusion' with Wall street brokers."

McADOO MEN CLAIM MAJORITY FIRST BALLOT

HAROLD JACOBS

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

San Francisco, June 30—The race for the democratic presidential nomination had tightened today with greater initial strength apparently accruing to the three leaders and many of the minor candidates being practically eliminated.

The camps of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, Governor James M. Cox and Wm. McAdoo, were increasingly optimistic while the organizations of James W. Gerard, Ambassador John W. Davis and Vice-President Thomas Marshall, assumed great expectancy of leaders running into a deadlock and pave the way for compromise candidates. Other aspirants were dubious. Perhaps the most important overnight development was the reported decision of the Mississippi delegates following its complimentary vote for Senator John Sharp Williams to cast its twenty votes solidly for Governor Cox "forever after."

It is known that both the McAdoo and Palmer backers had counted on winning several delegates from this state after they had deserted their "favorite son."

Positively significant was the boast of the McAdoo delegates that their candidate would receive the greater number of votes on the first ballot. The basis for this information could not be established.

RESTORE PARTY GOVERNMENT IN PLACE OF PERSONAL

THIS WILL BE THE POLICY OF THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES IF THEY ARE ELECTED

MAKING OF VICE-PRESIDENT AN ADVISER AND COUNSELOR INSTEAD OF FIGUREHEAD

RAYMOND CLAPPER,

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, June 30—Senator Warren G. Harding today conferred with Governor Calvin Coolidge, his running mate, on the republican presidential ticket, and Will Hays, national republican chairman.

The conference which took place at Harding's office here, was the first meeting between Coolidge and Harding.

Washington, June 30—Senator Harding and Governor Coolidge have agreed to base the presidential campaign on a plea for restoration of party government as a substitute for personal government, Harding said today.

The announcement followed a conference attended by the republican candidates for president and vice-president, and Will Hays, national republican chairman.

Harding also said it had been agreed that the vice-president should play a larger part in co-ordination with the president and the senate.

Coolidge issued a statement declaring he wished to co-operate further in the campaign.

"Governor Coolidge breakfasted with me this morning," said Senator Harding, "and we have agreed that we will base the campaign on an appeal to restoration of party government as a constitutional substitute for personal government."

"The governor and I have each served as lieutenant governor in our states and we have both learned from experience how possible it is for the second official in the state to play a helpful part in party administration. I think the vice-president could be more than a mere substitute in waiting."

"By the re-establishment of coordination between the executive official and senate the vice-president will have a greater part to play. I have been telling Governor Coolidge how much I wish him to be, not only a participant in the campaign, but how I want him to be a helpful part of the republican administration. The country needs the counsel and participation in government of such men as Governor Coolidge."

Governor Coolidge also issued a statement:

"It is not a new experience for me to campaign with Senator Harding. We have campaigned on the Massachusetts ticket for years. I suppose he is better known to me than any other member of the senate in our state."

"Mapping" the Air.

The greatest discovery yet made in exploring the air is that the atmosphere consists of two layers, the lower extending from sea level up to 10,000 meters, in which there is a steady fall of temperature with elevation. This is called the troposphere. Above this there is no fall, and up to 20,000 meters a slight rise. The upper layer is known as the stratosphere. It is actually possible today for an airplane to rise from the ground to the bottom of the stratosphere, say about six miles, in one hour. If we want to explore somewhat higher, say 20 miles, we install light instruments on a sounding balloon.

Smith-McGinnis

Miss Genevieve Mary Smith, daughter of Mrs. James Smith, was married at solemn mass at St. Francis Catholic church at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning to William Henry McGinnis of San Francisco, Calif., son of Mrs. J. C. Austen of Minneapolis. Rev. Father J. J. O'Mahoney, officiating.

The bride wore a blue traveling suit with turban to match and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Mrs. M. L. McClaran of Minneapolis attended her sister as matron of honor and Kirk J. Smith, a brother of the bride, attended the groom.

Bride and bridegroom spent childhood and school days in Brainerd, both graduating from the high school. The bride, who is a very charming and pretty girl, has hosts of friends in Brainerd and Duluth, having taught school in the latter city several terms. The bridegroom is a young business man of ability and success.

The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's mother. Mrs. Smith was assisted by Mrs. J. H. O'Brien, Miss Juel O'Brien, Mrs. James W. O'Brien, Miss Agnes Cullen, Miss Mildred O'Brien and Miss Irene Brockway.

The out of town guests were Monsignor D. W. Lynch of Duluth; Mrs. J. C. Austen and Mrs. Gilbert Pinney of Minneapolis, mother and sister of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Reilly of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. McClaran of Minneapolis; P. J. Corcoran, Miss Louise Corcoran and Miss Gertrude Smith of St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis left on the Twin Ports Limited this afternoon and will be at home after August 1 in San Francisco. They will stop enroute at Banff, Seattle, Victoria, Lake Louise and other points.

The Dispatch joins their many friends in extending to the young people heartiest and best wishes for their continued happiness and prosperity.

Carlson-Ryan

The bridegroom was badly injured in the war and gained high honor for his courage. He is employed as a machinist.

The bride is a charming and attractive young girl with many friends. The witnesses to the pleasing ceremony were Laura Wilmar and Alton L. Fox.

Lemons.

Many persons may not know that the scent and flavor of lemon peel reside in minute cells, close to the surface of the fruit, and that by slicing it thin they will cut through these innumerable cells and thus obtain double the quantity of the essential oil that could be procured by anyone careless of this fact. The cells being cut through, it follows that a great part of the oil remains on the white of the lemon. This is easily abstracted by rubbing a lump of sugar over it.

Alfalfa.

Alfalfa receives its name from an old Arab word which means in English "the best kind of fodder." The plant looks something like clover and grows very rapidly. In fact it grows so quickly that three or four crops can be harvested during the summer.

GLASS OF SALTS
CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING CHEAP

Daily newspaper space is the least expensive advertising medium, according to the findings of a committee of the Cleveland chamber of commerce, which has just concluded a thorough investigation of advertising costs for the benefit of its members.

The committee analyzed six classes of periodical publications, ranging from trade magazines, of exclusive circulation, to daily newspapers. All estimates were based on per column inch and a circulation standard of 1,000 subscribers. Not only was it found that newspaper advertising was cheapest, but it was clearly proven to be the most effective.

This report only proves what experienced advertisers have long known, but coming from an unbiased source it is most encouraging to the sellers of newspaper advertising who are striving to give their buyers a dollar's worth of publicity, or more, for every dollar spent.—St. Cloud Daily Times.

NORTH SIDE MAN DID IT

In making the equitable distribution of band music throughout Brainerd, the south side for the first time in history gaining a taste of Brainerd Municipal band music, it must be remembered that a north side man, H. F. Michael, made the motion for shifting the band around the city.

His Idea of Train's Action.

There is a story of a Suffolk (England) yokel who, having lived some distance from a railway station, and being content with the society around him, had never had need of a train, and, being brought into contact with a railway, stood watching this new wonder not far from a tunnel. ## A Strange Wedding

By RALPH HAMILTON

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

How to live on a three hundred dollars a year pension and the sparse produce raised on a small area surrounding the house he had the free use of during his lifetime, was a problem Morris Vehon had solved, although at a cost of close pinching. It was a lonely spot at the edge of a quiet little village, and life for the old man and his motherless daughter, Eulalie, was a round of dull monotony.

They had been now five years at Rosecrest and Eulalie had grown into a lovely, graceful girl of twenty. From the wreck of a former fortune her father had saved quite a library, a piano and some choice pictures, and these graced the humble little home and surrounded it with something of the refinements of intelligence and culture. The girl had always done her full duty as helper and daughter. Often in a fit of melancholy Mr. Vehon would upbraid himself for caging her bright spirit away from the joys of life.

"I am very happy and contented as it is, dear father," Eulalie would insist. "I must inherit from dear dead mother a love for the charms of nature amid which she was brought up, and I find no false friends among the flowers and the birds."

They were seated one evening on the porch, both dreamy and lulled to a sweet serenity by the balmy air and the soothing perfume of many flowers. The pale starlight showed the rose-hung gate with the stretch of purple firs beyond. A lurking moon on the far horizon had just begun to tinge the landscape with a delicate silvery glow. The distant chug! chug! of an automobile aroused them. It seemed coming down the road passing the house, but the sounds became less distinct finally, as though the machine had turned off at some side road, and at this Mr. Vehon wondered, for even the one main thoroughfare was a rutty, uneven highway.

Perhaps half an hour passed by when down the latter came a madly rushing auto. It halted directly in front of the house and one of three men it held sprang from the machine and unceremoniously rushed up to the porch.

"Limousine," he spoke rapidly, "red and black, two men aboard. Has it passed here within the past two hours?"

"None seen, none at all," replied Mr. Vehon. "Not many of any kind do," and the man hastened back to the road, and the machine, turning, retraced its course amid an excited confab among its passengers.

The incident somewhat disturbed the serenity of Eulalie and her father. Within half an hour the latter made a movement as if intent on going into the house and Eulalie joined him.

"I'll take the lantern and see if everything is all right in the barn, father," she said, and a few minutes later crossed the rear yard for the purpose stated. She drew back as a hot breath of air came through the open door of the structure. Then the lantern gleam fell upon the front of an automobile. Eulalie lifted the lantern. Its rays showed a man in chauffeur attire standing at the step, and, half reclining on the rear seat, a pale young man, suggesting an invalid.

"We ran in here because we were in trouble," hastily spoke the chauffeur. "Is there a man about the house?"

"My father, yes," said the bewildered Eulalie. "I will send him at once."

Mr. Vehon went to the barn. Soon he and the chauffeur came carrying the young man between them. He was borne to a room upstairs. The chauffeur, an hour later, left the house. Mr. Vehon came down to Eulalie with a serious face.

"We have become unwillingly a part of a tragedy," he said. The young man is Burton Gray, and he is seeking to evade relatives who are after his fortune. They have been giving him a slow poison, and his chauffeur was trying to get him beyond their reach. The automobile which we saw earlier in the evening held the pursuing plotters. The chauffeur thinks his young master is dying. He has left him in our care while he goes away, striving to throw their enemies off the trail. We must get a doctor for this Burton Gray and nurse him until it is safe for him to be removed."

And that was why the house was turned into a hospital for a week. The physician made secret daily visits and expressed the belief that his patient would not survive, but Burton Gray seemed to be content and relieved at the kind ministrations of Morris Vehon and his daughter.

"I am a doomed man," he said one day to the former. "The relatives after my fortune have probably destroyed the will I have made. I shall battle them. You are poor, your daughter deserves a broader life than she is passing here. I ask her to marry a dying man, who wishes to reward her great kindness and your own by providing for all your future."

It was a solemn ceremony, the marriage performed with only the doctor and a clergyman present, yet from that hour Burton Gray seemed to revive. He passed the crisis of his illness, and the happiest moment in the life of Eulalie was that in which, able to get about at last, she supported his wavering steps as she led him out into the lovely little garden that was a paradise to both.

BASEBALL STORIES

Two or three of the National league teams are in need of first-class catchers.

Pitcher Eddie Gerner, of the Cincinnati Reds, has jumped the club for independent ball.

Anron Ward is a jewel. He has been fielding brilliantly and his batting has been immense.

A new umpire in the Three-I league is Bill Burnside, who hails from Portland, Ore., originally.

Nicholson is the only member of the Pittsburgh Pirates traveling in the select circle of heavy swatters.

The Boston Red Sox have a new pitching prospect named Kenneth Holaday, who hails from Pawtucket.

The Cleveland club has released Otis Lambeth to Akron and turned Tim Murchison over to New Orleans.

Tim Hendryx, former Louisville slugger, is upholding his reputation as a hitter by leading the Red Sox in batting.

Since joining the Brooklyn team Pitcher Rube Marquard has defeated his former teammates, the Giants, 11 times in 14 starts.

Brooklyn has a fine string of pitchers and all of the other clubs are trying to get Bobbie to let go of one or two of his twirlers.

Al Schacht, who was considered a sort of a joke proposition for several years, seems to have finally convinced people he can pitch.

Looks as though the Cards were right in refusing that bag of gold for Roger Hornsby. The infielder is topping the older circuit.

The whole question of a super-tire is a matter of principles. For there is nothing exclusive in the industry. No patents, no secret formulas prevent a conscientious maker from building the best.

But cost and competition modify ideals. The Brunswick idea is to pay perfection's price and get it.

That has been the Brunswick policy since 1845. And it accounts for the growing preference for Brunswick Tires. Motorists expect the utmost from a tire bearing the name of Brunswick—and get it.

IRENE CASTLE AS CONVENT GIRL

"The Amateur Wife" Presents the Dancer-Star in a Unique Character Part at Best Theatre

Admirers of Irene Castle will have difficulty in recognizing the "best dressed woman in America" when she first appears on the screen in her latest Paramount Artercraft photoplay, "The Amateur Wife," which will be shown at the Best theatre for two days commencing tonight.

Mrs. Castle has the role of a French convent girl, but lately arrived in America. She is awkward, grotesquely dressed, and has her hair in long braids. She is amazed to discover that her mother, whom she has not seen for years, is the star in a jazzy musical comedy. Later, tragedy overtakes the girl. A man about town marries her out of sympathy.

only to leave her. But when he returns, the ugly duckling convent girl has blossomed out as a beauty and is the social bit of New York.

In the later scenes of the picture Mrs. Castle wears some stunning gowns that bear the distinctive Castle stamp. Altogether, "The Amateur Wife" is said to furnish her with the most unique role of her screen career. William P. Carleton is the leading man. The picture, which was adapted by Jane Murn from a magazine story by Nalbro Bartley, was directed by Edward Dillon.

Large Quantities of Trout and Pike Fry Have Been Distributed in Nearby Lakes

A meeting of the Crow Wing Game, Bird & Fish Protective club will be held Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Woodhead Motor Co. sales room, 7th and Front streets.

The first shipment of live pheasants will arrive Thursday noon from the state game reserve at Lake Minnetonka.

That this club is a benefit to Crow Wing county and vicinity is without question. Not only have the members of the game club adhered strictly to the game laws, but they have helped to enforce them. Large quantities of trout and pike fry have been placed in nearby lakes. 240 Chinese pheasant eggs were obtained and distributed to club members who had facilities for hatching and so far over two-thirds of the eggs have been hatched.

The club deserves the support of every citizen. If you are not a member, get one of the blue cards and help the cause. The club now has over 600 zealous sportsmen enrolled, all actively interested in making this beauty spot of Central Minnesota a sportsmen's paradise and keeping it so.

BASEBALL BUNTS

Verndale defeated Little Falls 3 to 2 in a seven inning twilight game played at Little Falls. Rye won his own game, fanning three men in the seventh inning and cracking a home run over the fence in the fifth.

Tris Speaker, the Cleveland manager, has made a great comeback with the stick this season. Last season was an off year in hitting for the Indians' pilot.

No other club in the majors has a better ground-covering set of outfielders than Washington. Milan, Rice and Roth are all unusually fast on their feet.

George Gray, the Chicago youth sent to Little Rock by Harry Arnold, former umpire, and shipped to Henryetta without a trial by Kid Elberfeld, is making good.

Walter Schmidt being on the job, the Pittsfield team has been using Colonel Snover in the outfield and the former New York pitcher is complimented highly on his work.

By a coincidence it was Joe Oesegher who pitched for the Phillies in the 20th inning, 9-9 run tie between the Phillies and Brooklyn in 1919. In that game he was opposed by Grimes.

Garry Hermann wants it known that the Reds' new pennant is the real thing. Two hundred and fifty yards of Government standard wool were used. It is 24 feet long and 12 feet wide.

The Tacoma baseball team will give the fans plenty of exhibitions of waving the ash from the port side. Three outfielders, an infielder and a pair of pitchers hoist the bludgeon from the off side.

Here's something odd. The outfield of the St. Joe team of the Western League is made up of Kedzie Kirkham, Gene Kirby and Ernest Walker—a bar used to make up the outfield of the Little Rock team of the South League.

NO HIT, NO RUN

Hannan of Fort Ripley Breaks Into Hall of Fame in Game Played With St. Mathias

(Contributed)

Fort Ripley defeated St. Mathias in a fast game Sunday, shutting them out 3 to 0. Hannan was on the mound for Fort Ripley and pitched air tight ball throughout the game, only one man reaching third base and that being Shortstop Dugre who was nipped at the home plate by a good margin. Hannan landed fairly and squarely in the no hit, no run column of fame.

Third Baseman Bratt of St. Mathias featured the game by three errors and striking out three times out of four trips to the plate. But at that Bratt didn't do so bad, as none of his teammates was able to get a safe bingle off Hannan's twisters.

With Hannan and Laforce doing the twirling and Aymor on the receiving end, the Fort Ripley boys feel pretty confident and are patiently waiting for that trip to Brainerd to meet the Speedwells.

LEAGUE VS.
INDEPENDENTS

Brainerd had Fine Baseball Under the League System of the Banner Year of 1919

TEAMS ARE RUNNING WILD NOW

No Limit to the "Loading" of Nines. No Standard on Which to Judge Teams

Brainerd last year was a member of the Central Minnesota Baseball league and fine baseball was enjoyed. The teams in the association each put up $100 to observe the rules, chief of which related to the limited number of outside players allowed.

It put the teams of the league on a certain standard and made possible closely played games and solved the question of a schedule, for that was arranged weeks before the season opened.

Then came the yearning for independent baseball this season. Each town is doing its best to load up its team. Such a thing as a purely home team is almost an impossibility.

When Fort Ripley played the Speedwells, the Fort Ripley team engaged the Little Falls' big team pitcher, catcher and fielder. When Crosby played Bemidji, the latter team hired some of Brainerd's players. When the Clyde Iron Works played Crosby they hired Morse of Brainerd.

There is no set standard for independent baseball. Without a league and its rules, independent baseball resolves itself into simply getting the best players your money can buy.

The only remedy for the whole situation and to soothe the fever for former big league high priced players is to form a league like the Central Minnesota baseball association and put a limit on the number of outsiders who can be played by a team. It is too late to form such a league this season. It can, however, be arranged for next year, if five other clubs will join with Brainerd.

WATERWAYS MAY SOLVE PROBLEM

WAR DEPARTMENT'S GENERAL PLAN TO REDUCE THE COST OF LIVING

HAS FLEET OF 165 VESSELS

Equipment Consists of Barges and Tow Boats Aggregating Cargo Capacity of 141,450 Tons—Hope to Relieve the Traffic Congestion.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY
Washington. — Restoration of the nation's great waterways of the country teeming with boats, barges and tugs is the avowed object of the war department, which, under the terms of the transportation act of 1920, was given control of the government water transportation facilities on the inland waterways.

Revival of this mode of transportation on a substantial scale was begun by the railroad administration while the world war was on. Closing of rail transportation turned attention to the necessity for doing more than talking about using the waterways and the government began spending several millions of dollars on waterway equipment. The reports of the director general of railroads shows that approximately $14,000,000 was expended.

The war department is now operating large services on the New York state Barge canal and the Mississippi and Warrior rivers. The people of the state of New York object to the federal barge service on their canal and appealed to congress to order the war department to get off that waterway, but congress adjourned recently without taking final action on the request. Although the senate did pass a joint resolution which had been introduced all musty Senator Wadsworth of New York. The house, however, did not act on the resolution. The contention of the people of New York is that the federal service eliminates private competition.

The service on the Mississippi river between St. Louis and New Orleans no doubt involves the most auspicious part of the government's program in rehabilitating the use of the inland waterways. By this service shippers through the Mississippi valley are enabled to consign freight to points along the river at tariff rates which are generally 20 per cent less than rail charges for similar services.

About Same Shipping Time.
The time required for passage from St. Louis to New Orleans is six days, according to the war department, while the up-river trip consumes on an average fifteen days. It is pointed out, however, that the regularity with which the sailings are maintained makes the actual time in transit between the shipper and consignee average approximately the equivalent of that required by the railroads.

On the Warrior river in Alabama the army is maintaining an important service between the coal fields of Alabama and Mobile and New Orleans. The principal movement over the New York state barge canal is the transportation of grain between the Great Lakes and the port of New York.

In all of these services the war department has announced that it will have a total of 165 barges and tow boats in operation during the summer of 1920, aggregating a cargo capacity of 141,450 tons. This equipment is all new and has been designed and constructed particularly to meet navigational and traffic requirements of the locations in which it will operate.

The equipment includes self-propelled barges which are capable of carrying upwards of 400 tons of cargo, at the same time towing loaded barges. The war department believes that development of the use of these inland waterways which are suitable for navigation will be an important factor in reducing the cost of living.

Study Combined Terminals.
Plans for combined rail and water terminals are being studied. The declared purpose of that branch of the department which is giving its attention to the matter is that the federal barge service shall be made serviceable and profitable.

"The major part of the actual development of the navigable rivers and harbors has for the last century largely been carried out by the war department, so that it has been more intimately connected with waterways to general than any other single government bureau," says the department. "In this entering a field which is in a sense so far removed from actual military operations, the war department is giving to the government and to the nation concrete evidence of the desire of the new army to become a potent factor in commercial as well as military achievement."

The position of the war department with respect to the operations on the New York state barge canal is that the government should be permitted to operate its equipment for the present season to demonstrate the practicability of that kind of transportation. It has made it clear that it does not wish to maintain the service on the canal permanently and that further more anyone may operate boats on the canal which is free, being maintained by the state. Unless the president calls Congress into special session, however, the war department will not be disturbed during the present season of navigation on the canal and will have the desired opportunity to show what it can accomplish in that service during the present season.

Always the Silver Lining.

We'll admit that the future of the so-called civilized world unfolds no radiant prospect to the vision of the student. Still, the sky can never become so black, but that a 60-pound watermelon will spray the frowning archway with rainbows and spangle the horizons with dashes of gold.—Houston Post.

When Sleep Will Not Come.

Don't hate the world and kick all night just because you don't happen to go to sleep. It damages your own nervous system, and any tender regard in which your roommate may have held you. Anger eats up energy and is responsible for next morning's very unpleasant day-after feeling. The lack of sleep mattered not at all. If instead of thrashing about viciously you had curled up cozily and day-dreamed, your night might have been salvaged, all might have been well.—Exchange.
